

Malmesbury Community Projects (MCP) presents:

SEMINAR/WORKSHOP ON:
Preventing Violent Extremism: The Islamic Perspective

In today's world the term Extremism has become somewhat difficult to define and understand because it is clouded and manipulated for different social, political gains.

People of all faith must come together, join hands and repel any form of glorification of violent extremist propaganda.

The Islamic creed considers violence and murder against a single human being, regardless of race, faith, or geographical location as tantamount to the killing of all humanity.

{Whosoever kills an innocent human being, it shall be as if one has killed all humankind, and whosoever saves the life of one, it shall be as if one has saved the life of all humankind.}(Al-Ma'idah 5:32)

SPEAKERS Br Azad Ali & Br Rupon Miah

Azad Ali is a National Council Member of Liberty, and former Chair and current Treasurer of the Muslim Safety Forum. He is also a presenter on the popular 'Easy Talk' show on Muslim Community Radio (MCR) and also presents Ummah Talk on Islam Channel. Azad Ali is Community Affairs Coordinator and senior member of the Islamic Forum of Europe (IFE). He is also an elected member of the Central Working Committee of MCB and Chair of its Membership committee.

Rupon Miah is a long standing Tower Hamlets resident, a committed community activist and youth worker. After several years working for a number of youth charities at a senior management level, Rupon decided recently to return to an earlier passion, political theory. He completed his Bachelors degree in economics and politics at Queen Mary, his Masters in political and social theory at Birkbeck and is currently at the London School of Economics reading political theory and preparing his PhD thesis proposal, which explores the tensions within liberal discourse on multiculturalism and diversity.
